

Why China and the United States must have a war

How does American military hegemony project itself? By relying on its aircraft carrier combat groups.

The United States is far from Eurasia, so the US Army has little effect, relying on the Navy to deter other countries, and the Navy mainly refers to aircraft carriers, which is purely an offensive weapon.

The earliest navy relied on battleships. This is the big ship cannonism.

The pinnacle of this thinking was the Japanese Yamato battleship, but the emergence of the aircraft carrier quickly eliminated the battleship. The Yamato built by Japan's national effort, was almost [rendered] ineffectual. The aircraft carrier eliminated the battleship because the battleship's guns could not hit the aircraft carrier, and the aircraft carrier's carrier-based aircraft could hit the battleship. Since then, it has been the world of aircraft carriers.