

Thread

Bernie Sanders ✓

@BernieSanders

We must do everything we can to ensure @JoeBiden wins by the largest possible margin. We also must consider what happens if Trump loses but refuses to abide by the results and does everything he can to hold onto power.

6:22 PM · Sep 4, 2020 · Twitter Web App

10.2K Retweets 794 Quote Tweets 59K Likes

Bernie Sanders ✓ @BernieSanders · Sep 4

Replying to @BernieSanders

First, with the pandemic and a massive increase in mail-in voting, state legislatures must take action to allow votes to be counted before Election Day. We must avoid a situation where battleground states are counting millions of votes for days and weeks after Election Day.

69

969

6.7K

Bernie Sanders ✓ @BernieSanders · Sep 4

Second, the news media needs to prepare the American people to understand there is no longer a single Election Day and that we may not know the results on November 3. Absent a national conversation about that reality, conspiracy theories and disinformation will likely thrive.

40

1.1K

6.4K

Bernie Sanders ✓ @BernieSanders · Sep 4

Third, social media companies must finally get their act together and stop people from using their tools to threaten and harass election officials, spread disinformation, and organize voter intimidation and disinformation on their sites.

128

737

4.5K

Bernie Sanders ✓ @BernieSanders · Sep 4

Fourth, we need Congressional hearings with local officials to learn how they plan to handle the Election Day process and the days that follow. Every agency of government—federal, state and local—must do everything possible to ensure that we have a free and fair election.

60

752

5.5K

Bernie Sanders ✓ @BernieSanders · Sep 4

Let us work hard to deliver Joe Biden an overwhelming victory on election night. But, we must also stay vigilant, and do everything possible to prevent Trump from staying in power if he loses. Nothing less than our democracy is at stake.

